Cantus (II)

The musical score consists of a single melodic line on a five-line staff. The staff begins with a treble clef and a common time signature. The melody is composed of diamond-shaped notes of varying sizes, indicating pitch and duration. The lyrics are written below the staff, aligned with the notes. The melody starts with a short note, followed by a longer note, then a series of eighth-note-like shapes. A vertical bar line appears at the end of the first phrase. The second phrase begins with a short note, followed by a longer note, then a series of eighth-note-like shapes. Another vertical bar line appears at the end of the second phrase. The third phrase begins with a short note, followed by a longer note, then a series of eighth-note-like shapes. A final vertical bar line marks the end of the melody.

The musical score for the Officium Defunctorum, 10. Libera me, features six voices: Cantus I, Cantus II, Altus, Tenor I, Tenor II, and Bassus. The music is in common time, with a treble clef and a key signature of one sharp. The vocal parts sing the Latin text 'Requiem aeternam dona eis domine' in a three-part setting. The bassus part begins on a different note than the others. Measure 60 starts with 'Requiem'.
